

FIVE-YEAR LIMIT ON AID BILL PROPOSED

4 HIGH SCHOOL MEN NAMED ON STAFF AT O.S.U.

Coach Paul Brown's Assistants Approved by Athletic Board

TAKES THREE FROM MASSILLON HIGH

Widdoes, McGranahan and Heisler Go; Shaw High Gives Up Its Coach

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—Four high school men were among the seven assistants hired by Ohio State university today to aid Football Coach Paul Brown, who jumped from a scholastic position to the collegiate big time three weeks ago.

Three of them were Brown's chief assistants at Massillon High school, where his championship teams won him the reputation as a miracle mentor.

Here's the Staff
Here's the staff that will aid Brown when practice sessions get under way Feb. 24:

C. C. Widdoes, coach of backfield men.
Paul Bixler, ends.
Fritz Mackey, tackles.
Hugh McGranahan, guards.
Eddie Bickie, varsity reserves.
Trevor Rees, freshmen coach.
Fred Heisler, assistant freshmen coach.

Widdoes, McGranahan, and Heisler were with Brown at Massillon and Rees, former Ohio State end star, put Shaw High school teams at East Cleveland on a winning basis during the past five years.

Bixler has been head basketball and assistant football coach at Colgate; Mackey is Ohio State's basketball mentor and Bickie its assistant basketball coach.

Only Mackey and Bickie are holdovers from the regime of Francis A. Schmidt, who resigned Dec. 16 along with his entire staff.

Mackey had been freshman coach and Bickie assisted Schmidt with the backfield men.

Mackey Will Scout
Mackey also will continue to do most of Ohio State's football scouting and is expected to resign as baseball coach.

Coach Brown's recommendations that the seven be employed were approved by the athletic board at a special session today.

The selections were patterned after Brown's previously announced policy that he did not want "big name" assistants, but men thoroughly familiar with fundamentals.

Mackey is the veteran of the assistants, having previously coached as an assistant in football at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, O., and as head coach at Butler, Indiana, and Indiana.

Mackey has been connected with the Ohio State coaching staff five years and Bickie three.

Bixler, before going to Colgate, was assistant football coach at Akron university. Previously he was assistant at Canton McKinley High school.

Widdoes, who turned down an attractive offer to succeed Brown at Massillon, has been a Brown aide since 1926 when he joined the Massillon coaching staff following his graduation from Otterbein college.

Eleven men, trapped when they tried to fight the flames, were burned to death in this charred section of the New Haven, Conn., Quilt and Pad company as flames swept a section of the plant, which was operating 24 hours a day on $2,000,000 worth of defense orders. Officials are shown above searching the ruins in an effort to determine cause of the fire.

10 YOUTHS GIVEN SCHOLARSHIPS IN FLIGHT TRAINING

Two Salem Men Qualify Among More Than 50 Under CAA Rules

Flight scholarships have been awarded to 10 of more than 50 youths who recently completed the ground course of the Civilian Aeronautics Administration non-college pilot training program here.

Awarding of the scholarships followed examinations conducted by Salem High school, where the ground course was pursued almost nightly, by E. H. Bohman of the CAA. Study of the ground course started Nov. 18.

Hugh Kells, one of two Salem men to win scholarships, received the highest grade. His percentage of 92 was termed as "extremely good" by the aeronautics administration attaches. Wilford Hoopes was the other Salem youth given a flight scholarship.

The other winners are Harold Mellor of Sebring, Sam Houston of East Palestine, Frank Heisler of Wayland and five Alliance youths, Loyal Hoffman, Thomas Dillmore, Kenneth Luginbuhl, Robert Rickard and John Weaver.

Winston Leach of Alliance, rated as a ground and flight instructor by the CAA, will join Russell Miller, operator of the airport at North Benton, in giving flight instruction when the actual training begins later this month.

Flight instruction will include between 35 and 60 hours for each of the 10 successful applicants.

The non-college pilot training program is being sponsored here by the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce. James Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Jacees' committee on aviation, has been instrumental in guiding the program.

TRUCKS COLLIDE; LISBON MEN HURT

LISBON, Feb. 6.—Three Lisbon men were injured critically in a collision of two trucks near the north end of East Liverpool city limits on Route 30 at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Seriously injured is S. D. (Red) Whoolery, 34, of Lisbon, who lies paralyzed in the East Liverpool hospital as the result of injuries.

The other Lisbon men, treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises, were Jack Snyder, 38, and LaRue Brooks, 30.

Chester Mervis of Steubenville, operator of the other truck, escaped unhurt.

The other car, owned by E. H. Sullivan of Lisbon, was being pushed into a service station driveway at the time. No one else was injured.

Impact of the collision forced Sullivan's automobile over the curb and into the residence of John Hundertmark, damaging the porch and knocking plaster loose in the library of the home. Both automobiles were damaged considerably.

Patrolman Paul Ormsby reported. Mr. and Mrs. Hundertmark were awakened by what they thought was "an explosion."

A minor accident at the corner of S. Ellsworth ave. and Wilson st. at 8:15 a. m. today involved cars driven by Thelma Mae Arter of R. D. 4, Lisbon, and W. N. Lyons of 735 Wilson st., police reported.

Lisbon Draftees Will Take Place of Those Rejected Jan. 21

LISBON, Feb. 6.—Draft board 3 today selected seven draftees, according to order numbers, as replacements for those rejected at Cleveland last Jan. 21 when 21 men were called from this district.

SIGNAL MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN AUTO; FUMES ARE BLAMED

Strip Miner Takes Short-cut Across Field, Car Stalls In Mud

Overcome by carbon monoxide fumes when his automobile stalled in the mud and snow on a farm near Signal, Paul Wilbur Huston, 39, was found dead in his car about 2 p. m. yesterday by his wife and a neighbor, Walter Zeitler.

Huston quit work shortly before midnight Tuesday at a coal stripping project east of Elkton and took Zeitler home before proceeding to his own house.

According to Coroner Arnold Devoon, who returned a verdict of accidental death by carbon monoxide poisoning, Huston had decided to drive across a field on the Zeitler farm to avoid a lane which was almost impassable due to ice and snow.

Mrs. Huston, alarmed at her husband's failure to come home during the night, went to the Zeitler home. They found Huston's body in his stalled automobile.

Born June 30, 1901, near Signal, the victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Huston. Although he resided in Lisbon for about 10 years, he had been living with his father near Signal recently.

Surviving are his wife, Hazel Ruhl Huston; one son, Donald; his father, two brothers, Walter of Rogers, Isaac of Elkrun township; three sisters, Mrs. Mabel Ferrall of Negley, Mrs. Hazel Cope of New Waterford and Mrs. Ruth Baker of Canfield.

The body was removed to the Warrick parlors at Columbiana where the funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in charge of Rev. G. H. Klotz, pastor of the Rogers Methodist church. Interment will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Democrats In Senate Warn They'll Vote Against Highway Measure

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—The legislative program of Gov. John W. Bricker headed into stormy weather today as house Democrats announced opposition to diversion of auto license tax revenues and demanded an extra $6,000,000 in sales tax money for local governments.

The house Republican leadership, nevertheless, defied a threat of senate Democrats and sidetracked the $2,200,000 poor relief appropriation for the second time.

Rev. John P. Stephenson, Columbiana county Republican, yesterday introduced in the house at Columbus a bill to prohibit civil service employees from contributing to political campaigns.

While the present statutes prohibit officers and employees in the classified service from soliciting or receiving such campaign funds, the new measure would prohibit what has been termed as "voluntary contributions."

Another section of the bill would empower the civil service commission to remove any officer or employee within the classified service for any violation of rules. Now only the department head has removal power.

The senate Democrats had warned they would not vote for the administration's $6,000,000 highway construction bill, already passed by the house, until the relief measure was enacted. Without Democratic support, the highway bill can not be passed with the emergency clause attached.

In answer to the Democratic challenge, the house Republicans indefinitely postponed committee action on the relief bill, which had

Three hundred enlisted men are rapidly adjusting themselves to the use of skis and snowshoes in Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, according to Albert J. Freed, Salem boy who, as a Signal Corps photographer, has been assigned for special duty at this camp.

In a letter to The News Freed writes:

"Uncle Sam, taking a tip from the valiant ski patrols which Finland employed against Russia, has begun intensive training of selected infantrymen to form his own ski battalions, which could prove a very valuable asset in case its precious possession, Alaska, is invaded."

"Approximately 300 hand-picked husky men were loaded aboard a train two weeks ago, and transported to Camp McCoy, in the northern regions of the Badger state, to undergo eight weeks of intensive training under carefully selected officers and famed ski instructors."

Roosevelt Announces Winant Appointment To British Post

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—John G. Winant, former governor of New Hampshire, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be ambassador to Great Britain, succeeding Joseph P. Kennedy.

Winant's appointment to the London post had been expected for several weeks. Its announcement was believed to have been delayed because the President wanted to give Harry L. Hopkins, his personal representative, time to wind up his work in London.

Although a Republican, Winant became associated with the New Deal several years ago. President Roosevelt chose him to be the first chairman of the social security board, a position which he resigned in 1936 to defend the agency against Republican attack during the presidential campaign.

Since 1938 he has been chairman of the international labor office, a research branch of the League of Nations.

In this position Winant has acquired a special knowledge of international social and labor problems and his appointment to the Court of St. James was considered a recognition by the President that those problems would become increasingly important as the European war progressed.

Chairman Bloom (D., N. Y.) said the committee did not decide to make any concession with regard to proposed limitation of the funds which would be spent under the bill.

He declined to say they had rejected the proposal, explaining only "We did not finish considering it."

That statement was interpreted in some quarters as indicating that some such proposal might be accepted.

WILKIE EXPECTED HOME ON SATURDAY

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 6.—Wendell L. Wilkie, on his way home after a strenuous study of the British lion at war, is ready now to shoot some lions in the African jungle.

Appointed the governor of Portuguese Guinea proposed to invite him on a jungle shooting party on his arrival in Bolama, first stop on the southern air route to the United States, Wilkie declared: "I wouldn't mind killing a couple lions."

He left Lisbon at midnight (7 p. m., E. S. T.) last night as one of the pioneer passengers on a new trans-Atlantic plane route to New York by way of Portuguese Guinea, on the African west coast, British Trinidad and Puerto Rico. This new route avoids the ground swells at Horta, the Azores, which often have hampered operations.

Wilkie is not scheduled to arrive in New York until early Saturday, air line officials said, and probably not until Sunday.

MORE WITNESSES CALLED BY STATE

State Hopes to Show Produce Dealer Suffocated "Barrel" Victim

LISBON, Feb. 6.—Prosecutor Frank Springer, who is demanding the electric chair for Frank Cascio in the slaying of Mrs. Julia Wall, called 10 more witnesses today in efforts to support his contention the 55-year-old produce dealer suffocated the woman in his East Liverpool apartment and then stuffed her body in a potato barrel.

Defense Counsel John Bauknecht assailed the suffocation theory in cross-examination by contending that Mrs. Wall's body showed no signs of rigor mortis, contrary to the usual condition when a victim struggles before death.

A court clerk yesterday read preliminary-hearing testimony of two deceased witnesses, George H. Kidder, East Liverpool patrolman, and Christopher Wall, husband of the victim, died of heart attacks in the period between the Oct. 29 slaying and the present trial.

Their testimony concerned articles belonging to Mrs. Wall, 46, former housekeeper for Cascio, which were found in his possession after the killing.

On the witness stand this morning, Mr. Mary Johnson of Wellsville, a sister of the slain woman, told of several trips which Cascio had made to her home to see if she could influence Mrs. Wall in repaying some money which Cascio claimed he had loaned his former housekeeper.

The state may rest its case Friday, it was indicated.

THE GOOSE PIMPLE SCHOOL

In the German press it is possible to read that no matter what America or anybody else does, the Nazi conquest of the world will proceed according to schedule. "Yeh man!" echoes the Italian press, and fainter but still fervent comes Japan's "Excuse it please, but that's right!"

This isn't hard to understand, in view of the way propaganda has to be worked to death in the spoon-fed nations. An American can see why Mussolini, for instance, wouldn't want to tell his taxpayers that if the Nazi conquest doesn't proceed according to schedule his goose is cooked. Taxpayers can be kidded into going for a ride on the gravy train, but not for a walk to the porthouse.

The hard thing to understand is the alleged thought processes of the various and sundry big brains who have joined the goose pimple school of writing in the United States. Their common characteristic is the habit of explaining, as though to small children, how the totalitarian conquest will continue to move forward a step at a time—suggesting, though never saying, that it can't be stopped. To hear them tell it, Buck Rogers, Dick Tracy, Superman, Art (The Great) Shires and Flash Gordon have come to life in Germany and 10,000,000 strong. In short, the war of nerves has bowled over impressionable souls in America, which is exactly what the Nazi propagandists hoped it would do.

The whole thing is strongly reminiscent of the great indoor sport of diagramming football plays on a blackboard. With crosses, circles, dotted lines, arrows, etc., the coach explains how the other team can be pulverized. It looks fool-proof. There's only one thing wrong. The players on the other team refuse to take their pulverization like gentlemen. They get obstreperous and turn up in the wrong places at the wrong time.

The opposition to totalitarian conquest isn't going to be paralyzed into helplessness either—not unless the goose pimply succeed in mesmerizing their audience. Americans don't expect any favorable publicity for their toughness in the countries that say it can't possibly make any difference. But they have a right to expect that in their own country the facts will be kept straight.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT" ITEM

Frequently, the last few days, grateful burghers have been heard to say as though they'd forgotten what time it was, "The days are getting longer."

By way of a yardstick, on Feb. 15 it will be officially 6 p. m. at sunset, no more or less. This may be compared with the 4:57 sunsets that prevailed for 13 continuous days the first half of last December—the earliest of the winter. But on Dec. 20, the sun lingered on till 5; on Jan. 22, it stayed up till 5:30; on Feb. 3, it reached 5:45. All this time, of course, things have been happening to sunrise, too. The 10th of this month it will have moved up 10 whole minutes from the 7:40 schedule it was following when February began. Thus, burning the light at both ends, the days finally will become as long as the nights in the last third of March.

The earth's axis becomes perpendicular to earth's orbit around the sun twice a year, in March and September. The rest of the time it is tilted away from the perpendicular in varying degrees, which accounts for everything that happens. Chiefly what is happening now is that the days are getting longer as the axis—not the insignificant one in Europe but THE axis—slowly approaches a 90 degree angle to the orbit.

BREAKFAST FOOD COMPLEX

It's too bad that when Dr. Charles A. Beard, the free-wheeling historian, was on the stand testifying against the lend-lease bill he didn't say more about America's breakfast food complex. He lightly referred to it as America's "mission," but it's more than that.

This is the complex that makes Americans want to be GOOD for somebody—the way a radio announcer would tell about the healthful properties of breakfast food. Sometimes it is referred to as America's morality. It's an incurable habit. It is not, however, a distinctive habit. That is to say, it isn't only Americans who want to force other nations to swallow their health-giving convictions because they'd be GOOD for them. The same thing's at the bottom of Communist efforts to spread the doctrine of one for all and all for Joe and the companion doctrines of all for Adolf and Benito. Apparently, it's human nature to want to spread the benefits and delights of political doctrines.

That being the way it is, Dr. Beard and others who despair of Americans being able to get to first base with freedom of speech and religion and freedom from want and fear in the world market can't blame them for trying. To do anything else would be to back out of the market altogether and there'd be no percentage in that, would there?

LAYDEN IS IT

Elmer Layden's new job as commissioner of the National Football league is supposed to be something like being commissioner for the American and National league baseball clubs and the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues—the mouthful that tells what Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis does to earn his salary.

This means that the football owners and managers will pay Layden $20,000 a year to be it in a perpetual game of hide and seek. They will do the hiding and he will do the seeking. They will try not to get caught of course, but if they do get caught that's all part of the game and no skin off the commissioner's nose. Every so often some owner will get peevish and try to put mousetraps in Layden's pockets and when time comes to renew his contract someone will try to cut his throat, perhaps, but that's all part of the game. It's just like renting a conscience for $20,000—cheap at the price if you've got the price.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, February 7.

A DAY for pushing important projects to the nth degree is the augury based on the lunar and mutual aspects of major planets. While higher-ups and those whose cooperation is indispensable should be helpful yet an influence inciting to strife, inharmonious, rashness and over-optimism may prove a defeating factor. Rigid self-control, tact, and readiness to compromise and yield graciously when desirable, should turn the scales in the direction of profit, achievement and inner satisfactions. Major issues being at stake, keep flexible, and alert to all possibilities of fraud, duplicity, snares, and intrigues.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of very important operations, with major projects moving to high goals of success and accomplishment; and with the practical support of those in place and power. But certain tendencies to over-do, over-estimate, to reckless gambling and to high pressure tactics would prove fatal. The ability to yield in non-essentials, to change plans where feasible and to avoid stress, strife and discord with those whose cooperation is needed. Be alert to fraud, pitfalls, cunning and subtle snares.

A child born on this day should be progressive, forceful, enterprising, inventive and constructive, but may invite its undoing by its extravagant, passionate and quarrelsome conduct and its susceptibility to treachery.

Maybe the idea of having the people determine by vote whether this country is to go to war is not so ridiculous after all. Given a chance, they could do the job in less time than it takes Congress to decide an important question.

Some mighty sweet things can be said of human nature, but there are times when it may as well be admitted it is not altogether lovely.

Join Forces for "Union Now"

Clare Booth (speaking), noted playwright, and Dorothy Thompson, political columnist, forget the bitter verbal blows they exchanged during the presidential campaign and join forces for "Union Now." They were among speakers urging union of the United States with Canada, the United Kingdom, Eire, Union of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, at a dinner attended by 2,000 in New York's Waldorf-Astoria.

COMPRESS VS. SORE THROAT

Be Sure to Put In On Right Way, Says Clendenning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In these days of colds and sore throats it is well to remember the compress. It may give more relief than medicines. It can be arranged and applied in any home and cannot possibly do any harm.

For a sore throat, laryngitis, or tonsillitis, the relief is almost instantaneous. The throat compress,

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

however, is usually put on the wrong way. If simply wrapped around the throat from front to back, it does not reach the place that is sore. It should be applied so that the ends meet over the top of the head, from under the chin.

Preparation of Compress
Prepare two trips of cloth three inches wide and long enough to reach from one ear to the other, and a strip of flannel three and a half inches wide, long enough to go under the chin and over the top of the head. Wrap the two cloth strips out of water at a temperature of 60 degrees. Place them on the throat, extending from the tip of one ear to the other, and place the flannel cloth over them to keep them in place, bringing it over the top of the head and pinning it in place. This is allowed to remain an hour, then another is put on.

The water can be colder or hotter if it feels better that way but a temperature of 60 degrees is about right. Nobody knows quite why this does so much good. The same sort of thing used on the abdomen—the Preissnitz bandage—is a remarkable remedy. It will relieve spasm or gallstone attacks almost as promptly as an opiate. The usual explanation is that it furnishes counter-irritation. The sensory nerves of the skin over a sore spot are soothed and perhaps through nerve endings going to the cord, there is an additional blood exchange made at the point of inflammation. Such is the explanation given for the undoubtedly good effects of mustard plasters, hot water bags, etc.

Chest Compress
The chest compress is useful in pleurisy and pneumonia. The shape of the chest compress should be that of the pneumonia jacket. It should go around the chest and have trips that go over the shoulders so that they can be pinned and hold the jacket in place. After being adjusted, it looks very much like a sleeveless sweater. Two or three pieces of linen or cotton are cut in the same shape and wrung out of water, again at 60 degrees, put around the chest, and changed about every half hour unless the patient is asleep. Before removing the old one the new one should be made ready so as not to expose the patient too much.

These household applications of hydrotherapy are very valuable additions to treatment. True, they do nothing more than relieve symptoms, but they are far more valuable and harmless than the administration of a lot of medicine that simply dopes the patient up.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
S. G.: "I would like to have some information regarding duodenal ulcer. I have been dieting for same for nine months with very little relief. Has smoking any effect on ulcer? I would also like to know what causes ulcer?"

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people have on cold or rainy days are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy results and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

J. M. G.: "What effect has the loss of a kidney on a person's ability to work? What length of time will it take before such persons are able to work? What kinds of jobs are preferred?"

Answer: A person with one kidney is functionally as well off as a person with two. It takes about two or three months for a person to recover from an operation for removal of one kidney. Any kind of a job within reason can be performed by a person with one kidney.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

RECREATION PLANS

Editor, The News: Salem ice skaters have really made use of the city skating pond this winter. They had to clean off a lot of snow to be able to skate.

Next winter, finances permitting, the Park commission and West End committee will try hard to have conditions more convenient. High spots in southeast corner removed and the dirt used to reinforce along south and west banks, so as to extend water clear over to light poles; build a concrete block shelter house with brick fireplace; ash or slag parking lot at edge of water near poles; a roadway on east side to high ground, where ball diamond, tennis courts and horseshoe courts are to be laid out, are things that have been talked over with Park commission members, with a possible extension of the present N. Y. A. set-up at Centennial park transferred to City field next spring.

My suggestion for a possible $500 voluntary fund, either through the Community chest group or a direct subscription canvass, is favorable to all six members, and where mentioned to Salem citizens meets with 100 per cent approval.

Tals money would be used, subject to approval of commission and committee, as a supplement to what city funds are available for park purposes at City field. Money is necessary for caretaker and other things at Centennial park, which should not be neglected.

With ball fields at both places, there is a possibility of having part of the softball games at City field and take part of the load off Centennial park diamond.

While more could have been done with a little more volunteer help, we are well pleased with the large space we were able to cover with ice this winter. Park commissioners are fine to work with. Next summer we really expect to go places. To do this we need 100 per cent public interest.

Our committee talks of calling a meeting soon at the Memorial building for not only west enders but all citizens interested in recreation work, to be present, meet Park commissioners and committee, offer suggestions to aid us—a general recreation discussion.

John Herman's work at Electric Furnace field shows that a small group of wide-awake young fellows can do if they really try. I have his promise to work with us on City field job, any way he can help. So I will ask, on behalf of committee, that when we call a meeting, that the public really turn out and show their interest, organizations included.

Our group appreciated your recent editorial compliment on our work. It really encouraged us to do more. The public don't need to feel that we want to spend a fortune on City field, but by a little each year, intelligently used, in a few years we can really make that field worth-while.

GEORGE BRICKER.

HONEYMOON PREFERRED by May Christie

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

More and more, Gaby was insinuating herself into this household. It was unusual to see Rupert so busy with the amazing skill of the housewife who, from her cradle, had been trained in the tradition of handling men, Gaby had the cleverness that hides a woman's way into the good graces of Rupert.

Through the meeting would be a painful and embarrassing one. It was, thought Jean, that time that her mother came back.

She hated herself for having deceived Gaby that she wouldn't reveal her identity by letter. But she could urge Laurel to return, meet her at the boat. Gently break the strange news! And then they'd be all right.

Laurel always had plenty of money. Rupert denied her nothing. Gaby could pay off Gaby? And not be the wiser?

Jean hated herself more as she admitted honestly to herself that her attention to the young man was perhaps her strongest desire in wanting to be rid of her! Her singing was the high light of the party. Encore followed encore. Only Walter, but Rupert, was watched by Jean's guest.

"And now, Gaby," Walter pleaded, and lots of people heard him, "won't you please sing 'Parlez-Moi d'Amour'?"

Standing tall and beautiful, she sang in glorious voice. It seemed as if she sang directly to Walter. "She looks like Marie Antoinette!" Jean heard one man say to another in an aside.

"And she's taken a big bite of my cake! Get that?"

They didn't see her. They both named Jean wanted to run to her and cry her heart out.

"And now may I propose that we drink a toast to our guest of honor?" Rupert called out gaily.

Champagne cocktails were passed, and done ample justice to. Several rounds. A guitarist and concertina player had been engaged for the party, as well as the pianist. The trio broke into a rumba. Gaby insisted that Rupert dance with her. Lately, she flitted her steps to the old-fashioned ones.

"Will you dance with me, Jean?" Walter asked. But there was no answer on his face. She came to his aid.

"Gaining quite a figure, isn't it?" His keen eyes followed Gaby. He tells me you've arranged her to meet at the Plaza for next week. I invited?"

"If you want to, of course. But I thought you'd no use for Cafe Society?" An edge to her tone. He didn't seem to notice that.

"But this is different. Sort of a family affair." What did he mean by that? Had the double-dealing Gaby told?

"I mean, you've received her so wholeheartedly into the family that I'd like to help give her a send-off, and buy my own ticket."

The huge room of the big hotel was packed. The cream of the moneyed, fashionable set had turned out in force for the debut of the exotic young singer.

In a red, off-the-shoulder, hooped gown, with creamy gardenias in her black hair, Gaby looked every inch the aristocrat whose beauty, by the grapevine system, had been bruited about Mayfair.

Jean and her stepfather had a prominent table with ten guests, including Gaby. Rupert's tall, spare frame was elegant in a brand-new evening suit. Shiny satin lapels were in again. Gaby had pinned one of her own gardenias in her lapel. He seemed to wear it proudly. His nice eyes shone with approval and admiration as they rested on the house-guest.

Gaby had made herself useful to Rupert in half-a-dozen ways. Flattered him, and played up to his little weaknesses. And it had been just the same with Walter.

As Gaby was starting her fourth number, the spotlight on her. Jean sat up and stared. For in that shaft of light she saw the dark face of Green, "the Gook," owner of The Blue Owl, where Gaby had made her original and very humble debut!

What was he doing here? Had Gaby seen him? If so, she was showing limitless grace. "And yet he can throw a monkey wrench into the works for her!" Jean told herself. "And serve her right!" Then she remembered her own unfortunate role in the drama!

The next dance started. Gaby was partnered by Rupert. Suddenly, a voice in Jean's ear—

It was Green, "the Gook." As the crowd milled about, he said, out of a corner of his mouth: "Well, I've certainly got to hand it to you, Gorgeous! You landed her in a class joint! But what's the big idea of promoting her as an old pal? What's back of your racket?"

Jean was horribly startled.

It wasn't so much his appearance—and he looked immaculate and sleek in evening clothes—but the challenge in his questions, the new familiarity that seemed to put them on the same level!

Society girl—and dive owner! She regretted desperately, and not for the first time, that she had ever been fool enough to set foot in The Blue Owl!

The old saw about playing with fire was pretty darn right, though the girls in her crowd had flung them to the discard!

"What's the big idea?" the man repeated with a crooked grin. "Come across!"

"Why should you question me? If I choose to be kind to anyone, does it concern you?" But she looked alarmed. And he saw it.

"Sure it concerns me," he drawled. "Was he going to have the effrontery to sit down at the table? Awful if she should be compelled to introduce him to her stepfather! Twice as awful if Rupert discovered he was the owner of the criticized Blue Owl!"

Rupert would make short shrift of him. Would order him from the table. And Jean had a keen intuition that a man like Green never forgot a real snub—would always get even! Who knows but she'd be the victim?

"I'm sorry I can't talk now," Her tone implied: "Please leave."

His sly-like eyes narrowed. But his manner was more respectful as he said: "But it's for your own interest, Miss Garrett. If you don't wait to speak to me here, will you come out to the bar? It'll look as if we met by accident, see? There's all sorts out there."

She hesitated. Saw Walter approach. That settled it. He must never meet Green, "the Gook."

"Only for a minute, then."

"Sure." As they turned, he slipped an arm in hers. How dare he? But fortunately the crowd was thick. She prayed. Walter hadn't seen that familiarity.

Without consulting her Green offered a champagne cocktail.

"That's your girls' favorite tipple," he remarked. Was it her fancy, or did the bartender who took the order look with surprise at them?

"And I'll take a cup of coffee," Green added. "I never touch anything stronger. It's bad for business."

She couldn't help saying, sarcastically: "I suppose to keep your wits clear?"

"Sure. Now listen." His voice lowered, and again speaking in that annoying way out of the corner of his mouth: "Count me as a friend. If that dame's putting something over on you, I'm with you."

Jean said haughtily: "I don't understand."

"Sure." His favorite word! How'd a nice girl like you understand a floozy? What I don't understand is how you ever fell for her."

He must have heard the story Gaby had invented to explain her visit to the Park Avenue home! Jean thought fast. If she confirmed it, it might put a stopper on him, even though he'd be bound to be suspicious.

"Don't you know it turned out that I'd met Gaby before?"

"Sure. In my place in the Village."

"But we'd met in the Sorbonne in Paris once!"

The man laughed. But his eyes glittered.

Jean added desperately: "I was studying there. She was at the Conservatoire, really. A mutual friend introduced us."

"Listen, my dear. You never set eyes on her in your young life till that night she asked me to introduce her to you at my place in the Village!"

"If you're going to be rude, I'm going right back to my party," Jean quietly replied, though her heart was hammering.

"Then I go with you. I'm going to put your old man wise!"

"To what?" She paled. Her breath caught.

"To the fact that a classy girl like you should have no dealings with the likes of her!"

"Is it any business of yours how I choose my friends?"

"Sure I'm responsible. Didn't you meet her in my joint?"

A deadlock.

Then Jean summoned courage to tell him: "You're annoyed because she left your employ. That isn't fair. Her voice is so beautiful that she had to get a wider field for it. I gave her the opportunity, and you resent it!"

"I don't give a hoot in Hades where she sings, but you can take it from me you're heading for trouble! She brought you back your gold compact, huh? I made her! I saw her snitch it from you!"

Jean couldn't tell him: "She only took it to have a reason to call at my house."

What she did say was: "You shan't upset her debut! I've taken her under my protection. I'm her sponsor now, and she shall have her triumph."

Acclamation tinged with contempt came in the sly eyes.

"You're one swell kid, Miss Garrett. But you're backing the wrong horse! It's my belief she got something on you, and is putting the screws on you to tell me what it is, and I'll blow her racket sky high! I've sure got the goods on that dance, and in more ways than one! If you don't spill it, I'm sure going to your stepfather!"

"You wouldn't? Oh, please! Jean went deathly white. She knew she must give some plausible explanation to stop him telling Rupert things against her half-sister. She added desperately: "You see, her forbidden me to go to your place! He'd be simply furious if he knew I was with you at this minute!"

The man's mouth twisted unpleasantly. The sly-eyes shone with a dangerous gleam. "So that's the way it is, huh? Well, I give in. But there's a tag to it. You and I'll be friends, huh? Give me your hand on it. Otherwise I talk to your stepfather!"

Today's Pattern

GIRDLE-WAISTED COTTON STYLE

Pattern 4694

Modern "home girls" and young wives just live in colorful cottons—they're so sunny and sturdy and their upkeep is so blessedly low! Pattern 4694 is a simple Anne Adams style that's flattering to most any figure, with an inset waistband to make you look sapping-slim through the middle, and one smart panel down the skirt front. You'll love the flattery of the soft-cut bodice, gathered above the high point of the waistline and below the becoming round yoke. Add the optional pocket pair for jaunty style, and use ric-rac edging to bring out all the fashion highlights. Isn't the patriotic print sketched delightful, with star motif in the button trim? Pattern 4694 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 3/4 yards ric-rac.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in cents for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

"Hudson's Bay", spectacular action film at the State Friday and Saturday, gives Paul Muni a new kind of role, the part of a man who was called a scoundrel, murderer, renegade and traitor by his generation, empire-founder and fearless leader of men by succeeding generations.

Muni is seen as Pierre Radisson, known as the "first Canadian", a fur trapper too tough for the frontier Montreal, who followed a dream that resulted in the founding of a vast empire in a savage wilderness of warring Indians.

Also in the cast are John Sutton, Gene Tierney, big Laird Cregar, Virginia Field, Vincent Price and Nigel Bruce.

Concluding tonight at the State is the thoroughly entertaining "Maise Was a Lady", featuring Ann Sothern again as Maise Ravier, showgirl, C. Aubrey Smith, Lew Ayres, Maureen O'Sullivan, Paul Cavanaugh, Joan Perry and Edward Ashley.

At the Grand Friday and Saturday is a Charles Starrett western, "Thundering Frontier" with Iris Meredith and the Sons of the Pioneers.

O. K. Contracts to 1946

The amendment applying to contracts would authorize the President to exercise the contractual power of the legislation until July 1, 1946—three years after the proposed expiration date of the law.

Legislators have explained such an extension of the contractual authority would permit the completion of large projects undertaken under such contracts—construction of warships, for instance.

The house, which finished general debate on the bill last night, met at 11 o'clock today, an hour earlier than usual, to begin consideration of amendments. Only about 50 members were present, however, and Chairman Bloom (D, N. Y.) forced a roll call to bring members to the floor.

Wife Got Fat-- No Longer Attractive

LOST HUSBAND'S LOVE

The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper in connection with a divorce trial that had attracted wide attention: "She was a beautiful woman" one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. If you are fat, how would you like to lose some of it and at the same time gain in physical charm and attractiveness—more energy—greater activity?

Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take 1/2 teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula) in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for thirty days. Cut out pastries and fatty meats and go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts will last you 4 weeks and costs but little. Ask any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen, plain or new effervescent—sparkling—pleasant—and start today to lose fat. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

Two years before Rees went to Shaw High in 1936, the school's team had not won a game. Under him the school built up a winning record and last year tied with Lakewood for the Lake Erie league championship, winning seven of nine games and tying one.

Schmidt's resignation came in the midst of an athletic board investigation of reported dissension among staff members.

Schmidt and three of his assistants still are looking for new coaching connections. They are Ernie Godfrey, line coach, Sid Gillman, end coach, and Gomer Jones, assistant line coach.

There were reports that Godfrey might be offered a position in the university's physical education department.

DIVERSION OF TAG FUNDS IS OPPOSED

Gov. Bricker's Legislative Program Heading Into Stormy Weather

been scheduled for a hearing today. Speaker William McCulloch said, however, it eventually would be brought to a vote.

Opposition to auto tag money diversion was expressed in a 12-point declaration of policy agreed upon by the 60 house Democrats.

An administration bill in the senate would allow the counties to use more than $3,000,000 of their tag money for general operating expenses. It now is earmarked for highway purposes.

The Democrats also recommended that the state restore to the local subdivisions "that share of the sales tax received by them in 1936," which was approximately $17,600,000.

The house finance committee will re-hear Tuesday an administration measure allocating $12,000,000 a year in sales tax revenue to the local governments. After being reported to the house floor, the measure was returned to committee yesterday at the request of Democrats who contended city representatives wanted to speak on the measure.

The Democratic policy declaration promised cooperation with the Republicans on legislation for the general public welfare, but went on to pledge the minority group to the following:

An increase in old age pension payments;

Liberalization of unemployment compensation benefits and the workmen's compensation law;

Improvement of state welfare buildings;

An investigation of the pardon and parole commission, which was accused of granting paroles to dangerous persons;

Repeal of a statute prohibiting use of public works bond money for improvement of municipally-owned utilities competing with private utilities;

Stricter supervision of mines, and

Enactment of a "progressive agricultural program."

As the legislature wound up its fifth week today, the senate judiciary committee recommended the passage of a bill exempting personal property owners from taxation for years prior to 1932.

As the legislature dumped 65 bills upon the clerks' desks yesterday, William Boyd, Democratic leader in the senate, proposed that the sales tax be reduced from 3 per cent to 2. He estimated his bill would cut the levy's yield by $16,000,000 a year, but said the loss would be offset by increases in other tax income.

Other new legislation proposed: Establishment of a three-member state athletic commission to regulate boxing and wrestling exhibitions and the participants;

To authorize the shooting of bob white quail;

To repeal the law permitting payment of delinquent taxes in 10 installments, and

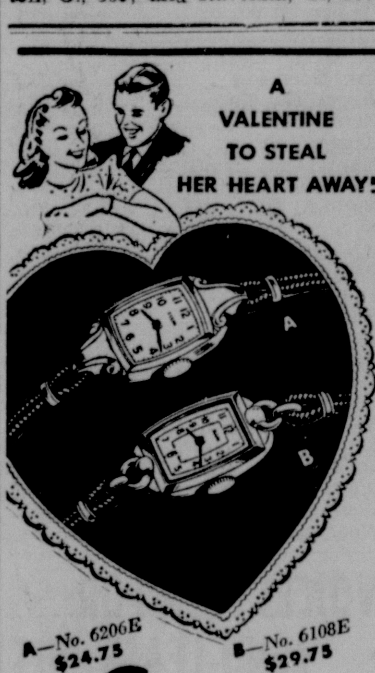

To prohibit civil service employees from contributing to political campaigns.

Salem Invades East Liverpool Friday For County Contest

Potter Cagers Average 50 Points Per Contest; Quakers' Hopes Dismal

River City Lads Confident of Trimming Local Passers; Heddleston, Mackey Spark High-Scoring Crew

"Out of the frying pan and into the fire." That's the fate of Salem High school cagers Friday night. Last Friday the locals were "blown down" by Dover's Crimson Tornado, and now, this week, the Brownmen travel to East Liverpool to take on the point-a-minute Potters.

The river city passers, although not as powerful as Dover, will enjoy a big edge over the hapless Salem team. Coach Bill Laughlin's hardwoodmen have been averaging close to 50 points per game. East Liverpool's record to date stands at 12 wins and three defeats as compared with the Quakers' three wins and nine setbacks.

The three Potter defeats were at the hands of Cambridge, New Philadelphia, and Massillon, all tough quintets.

These setbacks were all heart-breakers; New Philadelphia won in an overtime; Cambridge took the verdict by six points on the down-state court, and Massillon's powerhouse came from behind in the last two stanzas for their victory.

The East Liverpool lads played Massillon's vicious Tigers to a standstill in the first half but lost their victory hopes when two of their first-stringers were ejected from the contest on fouls in the last half.

The most optimistic way to look at Salem and their opponents is by comparative scores at Cambridge were both of the county rivals met defeat. The locals lost by a six-point margin while the Potters dropped the decision by four.

Lead Potter Attack
The two big guns in the East Liverpool attack are Don Heddleston and Jim Mackey. Heddleston, a 5 ft., 11 in. forward, and Mackey, a 5 ft., 11 in. pivot man, have continually scored honors on the Blue and White crew. The Quakers will find their hands full in trying to guard these two sharpshooters, especially on the Liverpool floor.

Don Duffy, Dick Treleven, and Bob Scott round out the starting five. Scott is particularly noted for his defensive ability, although he is quite capable of hitting the hoop when the opportunity presents itself. Massillon's star athlete, Horace Gilson, acclaimed Scott as the toughest defensive player that he has met all season.

Duffy is also another lad who takes scoring spells and frequently racks up totals that reach two figures.

Treleven, not a big point-getter, is a capable floorman, being a good passer and defensive player.

Not a Rosy Picture
It all sums up to the fact that even the most optimistic local fan cannot see a very rosy picture for the Salem ball club. To greatly add to the Quakers' disadvantages, the tilt will be played on the Potters' home floor, and East Liverpool teams have a reputation of being exceptionally tough in their own back yard.

The Quakers will be strengthened somewhat with the return of Mike Thomas to the team.

The red and black reservemen will also try to regain their winning ways Friday after the Dover disaster.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—From reading the papers, we gather Elmer Layden is monarch of all the surveys in pro football—that is, except in the American association, the American league, the Dixie league and the Pacific Coast leagues. Which makes his election practically unanimous—in reverse—for, if these don't outnumber the National foot, we're willing to learn.

Now all Mr. Layden has to do is get himself elected and start czar-ing. The National league, which lured him away from Notre Dame at a fat salary, hasn't made it official yet, and its magnates may have a fight on their hands before it does. To the other circuits, Mr. Layden is just another football coach looking for a job. The road ahead is lined with headaches, but Mr. Layden can afford 'em at $20,000 per—if he gets it.

Where's Elmer?
All admit that Mr. Layden has plenty on the ball. But now it would appear that he is czar of nothing at all.

Wires From All Over
Dolly King, Long Island's great cage star, has got around in making it official by announcing he's playing with the New York Flashes, a pro outfit. Jack Kearns was all set to toss a Gus Lesnevich-Anton Christoforidis fight into Miami when Mike Jacobs hurried a monkey wrench by refusing to release Lesnevich. Correction: Larry (Moon) Mullins will get only half-a-grand more for being assistant coach at Florida than he pulled down as head man at St. Ambrose. (We said he'd get double).

Today's Guest Star
Dan Partner, Kansas City Times: "The New York football Yankees, who are reported to have offered John Kimbrough $37,500 (that's a laff), insulted Paul Christman by offering him a mere $2,000 to pitch passes next fall. Christman's answer to that should be he can't afford to take a cut in salary."

One-Minute Interview
Jack Dempsey: "New York and the National Boxing commission are going to get together sooner than anybody thinks. I've been working on it." (Ed note: Does Mr. D. have an idea there'll be a place for him in a new set-up?)

Add Pro Football Rumps
Why play poor Carl Storck, who's only the president of the National league? He's better off than Elmer, for he knows where he stands.

Paul Brown Meets Buckeye Students
COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—Paul Brown officially met the Ohio State university student body last night. The new football coach got a big welcome at a "Meet Paul Brown" rally on the campus, the first student get-together since Brown was named coach early in January to succeed Francis A. Schmidt.

Brown, flanked by team members, the marching band, faculty members and representatives of other athletic groups, and facing microphones—his talk was broadcast over the university radio station—launched forth into the subject he knows and loves best—football.

Ready to Work
"I guess a lot of folks must think I'm a glorified wingback after everything I've said since my appointment," he said. "It's come to the point where it's time to do something and we're almost ready to start work."

"We'll have our setbacks, of course. Every season may have some disappointments, but I'm expecting certain specific things."

"We're going to have the cleanest, finest best-fed bunch of kids you ever saw. In football season we're only going to do two things—study and play football."

Later Brown introduced "Kate," his attractive wife, and showed pictures of his last year's Massillon High school football team in action.

Junior High Tops E. Palestine, 31-12
The Salem Junior High cagemen chalked up their fifth straight victory of the season yesterday when they coasted to a 31-12 victory over the East Palestine Juniors at the Bulldog gym.

The locals went into an early lead and never were headed. "Everyone contributed to the Salem scoring, Brian heading the list with 10 points. Robson collected seven of East Palestine's markers.

The local lads led, 15-6, at half-time.

DI Maggio Dissatisfied
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Joe Di Maggio, 1940 American League batting champion, is dissatisfied with the New York Yankees' offer for his services and will send back his contract unsigned, he indicated today.

He didn't say what he wanted this season but indicated that the Yankee offer was too near the reported $32,500 he received last year.

TOLEDO DEFEATS DEPAUL, 55 TO 51, IN OVERTIME TILT

Last Half Rally Saves Game for Ohioans; Gerber Top Scorer

It took an overtime period to do it, but Toledo university is still on the heels of Mount Union, ready to reclaim the Ohio college basketball leadership should the unbeaten Mounties falter for an instant.

At Chicago last night the Toledo Rockets tangled with a fast DePaul team and only a spurt in the last half saved the game for the Ohioans, 55 to 51.

DePaul led by six points at the half, 24 to 18, but Toledo's rally tied the score at 48-48 at the end of the regulation time. Forwards Bart Quinn and Marshall Carlson looped winning points.

Toledo Center Bob Gerber, with his 11 points, regained the state's individual scoring lead which had been borrowed temporarily by Frankie Baumholtz of Ohio university. Gerber now has 29, sum-holtz 23.

Ohio Wesleyan rolled up a 60-29 win over Denison at Delaware. The Big Red never had the lead and Wesleyan substitutes played nearly all of the second half.

Penguins Win eighth
Youngstown registered its eighth consecutive home victory by beating Thiel college of Pennsylvania, 52 to 35, in a slow game. The Penguins led all the way.

Rio Grande beat Otterbein at Westerville, 34-28, for the second time in five days. The score was close all the way, with Rio Grande slowly pulling ahead during the second half.

Wilmington college treated the visiting Wilberforce quintet to a 47-36 beating, with Wilmington substitutes doing most of the scoring.

Tonight's schedule: Defiance at Kenyon, Wittenberg at Findlay, Alliance at De Sales, John Carroll at St. Josephs, Wooster at Bowling Green, Chippewa at West Liberty, Giffin at Tri-State and Ashland at Ohio Northern.

Hess And Kerr Set Doubles Pace At 1140; Henry Reese Leads In Singles With 616

Twelve couples teams and 24 singles contenders slammed the maples last night at the Masonic alleys as this new phase of the annual bowling tournament got under way, with G. Hess and G. Kerr setting the pace in the two-man event with a count of 1140 and Henry Reese taking the lead in the singles with 616.

Hess shot an actual 568 count, with a 235 in his third game, and Kerr turned in a 488 tally. These scores were combined with an 84-pin handicap to produce 1140.

Louis Probst, 11-pin handicap man, and George Harroff, 10-pin handicap, rolled into second place, with a score of 1118. Probst shot a 494 and Harroff a 561.

Warmed up by his doubles efforts, Reese rolled a fine 562 score in the singles which, with his 54-pin handicap, gave him a 616 total. He had games of 186, 175 and a finale of 201.

Right behind him was C. Richardson, with 614, by virtue of an 87-pin handicap, and a score of 527. Harroff was third in the singles with 581, combining a score of 551 and a handicap of 30.

Exchange

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—J. W. Gibson unlocked a car, turned on the ignition and drove home to Charleston, 50 miles away. Then he looked in the back and saw packages that didn't belong to him. Investigating further, he found the car didn't belong to him either. At his home in Huntington, meanwhile, A. J. Moores was having the same experience. Both reported to police, who found the cars were of the same make and model, that the keys were interchangeable and that the "twins" had been parked near each other at the courthouse.

TRY THE SALEM NEWS

"From The First I Noticed A Big Improvement," Says Prominent Ravenna Man

"Says He Was Bothered Constantly With Chronic Constipation and Accompanying Ill-Effects Suffered from Many Miserable Stomach Disorders."

MR. ART JULIAN

"Before taking TONJON I was like many, many other people, always constipated and consequently never feeling up to par," declares Mr. Art Julian, prominent barber living at 1042 Mechanic St., Ravenna, Ohio, a member of the Catholic Church and Elks Lodge.

"I never ate a great deal, but what I did eat seemed to sour almost as soon as it entered my stomach, quickly forming gas and distressing me quickly with heartburn and acid risings. My nerves were so upset that I didn't know what to do to get relief for everything I tried had seemed to fail."

"I was constipated so seriously that I would often go two or three days without a bowel movement. Since using TONJON my constipated condition has been relieved wonderfully and it doesn't cramp me in the least when having my bowel movements. Although I am on my feet all day barbering I don't feel tired. It didn't take me long to learn why others were praising TONJON so highly because I noticed a big improvement in my condition from the very first. Regardless of what I eat or how much I eat I never seem to be distressed in the old ways. Naturally, I am going to keep right on with TONJON and in the meantime I am gladly recommending this medicine to folks suffering because I don't believe that there is anything that can compare with it."

If you suffer, come to Broadway Lease Drug Store, Salem Ohio, and talk to the TONJON Health Representative. Ask to see him in person.
